FOX CITIES (WISCONSIN) INDIE FILM PREPARES FOR RELEASE

ALIENS ARE COMING TO NEENAH, WISCONSIN SHE IS THE FIRST IN LINE.

On June 12 2009, 7 Abductees prepared to leave Earth. This is their story.

The local Neenah, Wisconsin indie film ‘ The Alienated’ is set to be released on July 24th, 2009, it was created and filmed in Neenah, WI and features a wide assortment of accomplished Wisconsin actors.

The film was written and directed by Ansley Allen and is a campy count down to an alien landing featuring a Neenah, WI alien abduction support group. In an interview Ansley stated, “Once in a lifetime, a camera crew catches real proof that aliens exist. This is not that movie. I wanted to create a comedy using improv actors so they could take the plot and twist it in funny and unexpected ways. The documentary style approach to this 46 minute short film gives it the feeling of realism and really sucks you in...”

The film is not a “for profit” production although the acting and laughs are worthy of seeing the film a few times. Over 30 people in the cast and crew brought “The Alienated” to life over the past 24 months and the film features original artwork by graphic artist Luke Lorbiecki and an original soundtrack by Jeremy & the Jupiters of Oshkosh, WI.

The Alienated will be released at PERFECT PRESENTATIONS in Neenah, WI – a 100 seat theater – playing on July 24, 25, 31, and Aug 1. The official “The Alienated” film website (www.thealienated.com) is live and gives additional details on the film and background on the actors. Future fans for the film can see the trailer at www.youtube.com/user/thealienated. After its Neenah, WI debut it will be submitted to film festivals across North America.
